Patron Capital shortlisted at Better Society Awards

Patron Capital, the pan-European institutional investor focused on property-backed investments, has been shortlisted in the Partnership with a National Charity category at the Better Society Awards 2017 for its work with The Royal Marines Charity.

The Better Society Awards celebrate the efforts that commercial firms make to help improve society. The awards also recognise companies that give time and expertise pro bono, and those that have made a long-term commitment to creating better practices.

The winners will be announced at an exclusive awards ceremony on 11 May.

Keith Breslauer, Managing Director of Patron Capital, commented:

“The Royal Marines are the first in and last out in any conflict zone and come up against unimaginable dangers and challenges. They deserve to be supported and assisted on their return when adapting to civilian life. We are honoured to work with them to give something back for their commitment and bravery in creating a safer world, and pleased that our partnership with the Royal Marines Charity has been recognised by this shortlisting.”
