

We are delighted to announce that last night CALA Homes was named Large Business of the Year at the prestigious Scottish Business Awards in Edinburgh.

Now in its fourth year, the Scottish Business Awards aims to recognise excellence in business and celebrate those who are building, and leading, successful, growing and dynamic companies in Scotland.

Sir Tom Hunter led the judging panel and CALA beat off stiff competition from some of Scotland's most respected brands including Aberdeen Asset Management, Standard Life, Stagecoach Group and Arnold Clark.

The event itself, which is the largest business gathering in the UK, also raised hundreds of thousands of pounds for good causes and attracted high profile celebrities including guest speaker George Clooney.

2014/15 was an incredible year for CALA which saw significant growth for the company and a record performance across all financial metrics. We also continued to invest in both our existing teams and future talent in the industry.
